Management's Discussion of Fund Performance

SUMMARY OF RESULTS

For the fiscal year ending September 30, 2024, the AXS Chesapeake Strategy Fund's Class I produced negative results of 9.32%. Most of the losses were experienced in the first fiscal quarter as Trend reversals in the Fixed income and Currency sectors produced losses. The abrupt move in rates and the trend reversal followed a period of increasing rates via Federal Reserve policy to combat rising inflation.

FUND PERFORMANCE CAN BE ATTRIBUTED TO THE FOLLOWING:

From an allocation perspective, the biggest contributor to underperformance was the Fund's exposure to US and Global interest rate markets. These attributed to over a third of the fund's posted losses for the year. The TEN-YEAR EURO-BUND, EURX EURO-BUXL and the US 5- and 10-Year Notes were the biggest drags on a position basis in the Fixed Income sector to the Fund.

The Fund also produced losses in the Currency Sector during the period. Though broad based the largest losses were incurred in the Swiss Franc.

The Fund's positions in Commodities were also a drag on the Fund's performance. All sub-sectors posted a loss led by Energies. The Soft and Meat markets were the next two biggest detractors. Markets of note that attributed to these losses were the crude oil markets, sugar, live cattle, and lean hogs.

The Fund's holdings in US and Global Stock indices were a bright spot for the Fund and produced gains during the period. Positions in E-MINI-S&P INDEX, S&P CANADA 60 INDEX and the DAX INDEX were positive contributors to the Fund's performance.
