DESCRIPTIONS OF INDICES AND TERMS

Beta: A measure of the volatility, or systematic risk, of a security or a portfolio in comparison to the market as a whole. Correlation: A statistical measure of how two securities move in relation to another. Index used for comparison is the S&P 500 Index. Long is the buying of a security such as a stock, commodity or currency with the expectation that the asset will rise in value. All market indices are unmanaged. S&P 500 Index: An index of 500 stocks chosen for market size, liquidity and industry grouping, among other factors. Sharpe Ratio: A statistical measure that uses standard deviation and excess return to determine reward per unit of risk. Short is a sale that is completed by the delivery of a security borrowed by the seller. Short sellers assume they will be able to buy the stock at a lower amount than the price at which they sold short. Standard Deviation: A statistical measure of portfolio risk used to measure variability of total return around an average, over a specified period of time.

IMPORTANT RISK DISCLOSURE

Mutual funds involve risk including possible loss of principal. There is no assurance that the Fund will achieve its investment objective.

Investments in companies that are the subject of a publicly announced transaction carry the risk that the proposed or expected transaction may not be completed or may be completed on less favorable terms than originally expected, which may lower the Fund's performance. Investments in foreign securities involve greater volatility and political, economic and currency risks and difference in accounting methods. Investments in small and medium sized companies involve additional risks such as limited liquidity or greater volatility. Derivatives involve special risks including correlation, counterparty, liquidity, operational, accounting and tax risks. These risks, in certain cases, may be greater than the risks presented by more traditional investments. The Fund may make short sales of securities, which involves the risk that losses may exceed the original amount invested. The Fund may use leverage, which may exaggerate the effect of any increase or decrease in the value of portfolio securities or the Net Asset Value of the Fund, and money borrowed will be subject to interest costs. The Fund is non-diversified, meaning it may concentrate its assets in fewer individual holdings than a diversified fund. Therefore, the Fund is more exposed to individual stock volatility than a diversified fund.

Market Turbulence Resulting from COVID-19. The outbreak of COVID-19 has negatively affected the worldwide economy, individual countries, individual companies and the market in general. The future impact of COVID-19 is currently unknown, and it may exacerbate other risks that apply to the Fund.
